GPENING OF THE FIRST RAIL-ROAD TO CITY OF MEXICO.

The 1st of January 1873, will always be regarded by the Mexicans as a red-letter day in their history, inasmuch as it witnessed the inauguration of the first railway ever opened in their history, in-smuch as it witnessed the inauguration of the first railway ever opened in their country. By the concession granted to the builders of the road, the line had to be completed on that day, and only a short time previous the Government was notified that the company would be able to concey President Lerdo de Tejada in a special train from the Capital to the first port in the republic on the day named. Accordingly the President, accompanied by the Cabinet, Congress, the foreign representatives, and several distinguished Mexican and foreign gentlemen, left Mexico for Vera Cruz before the rising of the first sun of the new year. From the capital to Boca del Montre, a distance one hunared and fifty miles, the road of the route, however, is exceedingly unor the route, indexer, is executely continued through narrow gorges, into tunnels, and thence over huge iron bridges that span apparently bottomless precipiees. The peculiarly constructed engines and the steam brakes used on the road enable trains to make steep ascents and descents, however, and the difficul-

Linn county has a number of Farmers' Clubs. They meet frequently for discussion. The drift of their purpose may be seen in the following resolution, pro-posed by one of the Clubs: "Resolved, That the farmers of Oregon should unite and build warehouses of their own, in order to do away with the class of middiemen or grain speculators who, at present, control prices and reap the only profit." Another Crub is going to dis-cuss this question: "In what way can we procure means to ship our surplus to Astoria?"

The new code of California expresses such complete equality in the marriage state, and so does away with the old no-tion that a man and his wife are one flesh, that the two can contract with and sue each other just the same as if they had never been married. The marriage of minors changes their status from minors to adults, and so infants may jump at once into that delightful state of liability to sue and be sued which the wis-dom of their loving parents has prepared
